Saddened by friend's death, youths donate Rs 36,000 to family as financial support

■ Staff Reporter

TRUE friends stay forever. Students of Anjuman College of Engineering, Sadar, have stood a perfect example for the saying. Disheartened by the death of their close friend, the youths realised the misery that her parents must be facing and extended a financial help by collecting amount of Rs 36,000 for the family. The initiative was taken by Baljeet Singh Dhillon along with his Professor M Nasruddin, HoD, Electronics and Telecommunication.

Baljeet said that his college friend Upali Sahare, an Asthma patient, had died on February 21. Upali belonged to an economically weak family. She leaves behind her parents, a younger brother, an elder sister and grandmother. Her father is a labourer, while her mother is a homemaker.

"Upali was good in studies. Her parents had a dream for her that she will become an engineer one day. Thus, we realised that the family has lost a young helpful member and thus decided to help them financially," said Baljeet.

Baljeet Singh Dhillon, HoD M Nasruddin and others handed over cash Rs 36,000 to Upali Sahare's family.

Baljeet said that Upali was an Asthma patient and her parents didn't have money to treat her. "She was a lively person. Though she faced so many financial problems at home, she would never take sympathy from his friends. Remembering all her good qualities, we decided to donate some amount to her family," said Baljeet.

Baljeet and his friends circulated a message for funds among his friends, professors, family and relatives. Soon, the group collected an amount of Rs 36,000 and handed over to Upali's family.

Upali's family assured Baljeet and his friends to use the donation amount for his younger son's education.
