Best Practice 3

1. Title of the Practice: Project Diary for final year students for communications made with the Guide, Research Progress Committee (RPC) or any other in accordance with research, industry or consultancy based Project Work.

2. Objectives of the Practice:

- The student's projects are selected in line with department mission, vision and program outcomes.
- Guides provide students are with brief ideas of various emerging fields and technologies for selecting the project ideas.
- The list of previous year projects is displayed at notice board which ensures no repetition of project work and also encourages students to enhance the previous works.
- The faculties encourage students to participate in project exhibitions, Industrial visits or take Internship. It provides common platform to exhibit their innovations and their work towards excellence in latest technology.
- The faculties also encourage students to publish their project work in reputed journals/conferences

3. The Context

A project coordinator is appointed by the Departmental Head, are responsible for planning, scheduling and execution of all the activities related to the student project work and record them inform of project diary. Laboratory environment are provided with all necessary software, hardware, major equipment's and other facilities. The faculties encourage the students to carry out in house projects cultivating new ideas, skills or abilities improve existing knowledge based for social and economic benefits of society. Moreover students develop project management skill to exhibits their project work in project exhibition and get their work publish and patent.

4. The Practice

A project generally involves distinctive phases of equal importance: problem definition with their requirements and constraints, planning and design, implement, monitoring and control, execution. The smooth and uninterrupted development and execution of all the above phases ensures the success of a project. Productive guidance by guides, efficient communication skill and supervision of the project team work. A successful project is highly dependent on team efforts. The need for the project and the end users of the project are verified for the current context. Students are also given choice to choose their guide that matches their project domain. Project Guides continuously record progress of the project work by means of Project Dairy. This dairy maintained records per week schedule and progress in project work, duly endorsed by respective guides and Head of the Department. Finally each project is evaluated with graded according to their project quality and with their contribution towards attainment of PO's.
